

Curriculum Vitae

Omar Salie

As a critical thinker, one should always question every occurrence. The I.T field in general is an interesting as it has many different aspects to it. Be it games or just Microsoft Office, there are many things to be done in front of a computer. A few interests would be building computer towers, networking and editing (Images and Videos) but the most interesting would be programming. There is a thrill to solving difficult problems. By combining a passion for gaming, a Video Game Programmer seems to be the most interesting line of work.

Hobbies and Interest

I enjoy playing video games competitively (Semi-professionally) and I watching anime (Japanese Animation). From anime, I started reading manga (Japanese Comics) and Light Novels (Short Japanese Novels) which also led me to reading Korean and Chinese Novels. All these Asian novels are not professionally translated but translated online by fans.
